Monday morning on Martha Street on the first full day of Spring, '77. I was watching the clock Sunday shortly after noon, when the official Spring arrival was recorded, and I got the impression that the Sun was trying to send its warming beams through the overcast. Thus encouraged I spent most of the afternoon re-studying seed and nursery catalogs and hoping to get my garden plowed. But Monday morning! Brrrr, there was frost on the windshield and my back porch thermometer was on thirty-two Later on checked with several friends and they also claimed that "it was a chilly morning for Spring." Not quite time to start storing blankets. Some say that frost may come as late as April 15. But it won't be long now before we will take to the outdoors. I heard several lawnmowers Saturday and read some counsel not to mow grass closely before Easter. Just an inch off the top. And this morning I was told to go ahead and plant my radishes and put out onion sets. Farmers are wise as to when and where to plant, and week-end "farmers" never tire of believing that "this will be my year." Springtime. Ah yes, plan that vacation. Re-hang the porch swing or get your car in shape to travel. Who will have the first garden-ripe tomato? Sign of something, I saw some earthworms sunning on the street pavement!

In the 25th annual Keep Virginia Green contest, sponsored by the Virginia Forestry Association, an ACHS junior, Glen Wade Duff won fourth place. And among 420 students from 271 public and private schools named to attend the Governor's School for the Gifted this summer, I saw listed David B. Eye and Laurie Selz from Appomattox County High School.

Highway deaths continue to mount, but thus far in Virginia the total is over twenty less than at this time last year.

• • •

Just saw a sparrow on my empty bird feeder. Should have told him about those two worms I saw out in the street, but did not because worms have their rights, too, although they would have better luck in the garden than in the street.

Tossed in for free....if you plan to fly a kite stay away from utility lines.

Sports dept. briefs: As a NY Yankee fan, I am not too happy about their showing thus far in exhibition games. Basketball is about over for this season and it is recalled that back in 1891 a physical education professor, Dr. James A. Naismith hung up a couple of peach baskets and started the game of basketball. Now it is a major sport. His widow, Mrs. Florence Mae Naismith, 87, died last week. I think Dr. Naismith was at Springfield College, Mass. when he launched the game.

• • •

Local fans will be rooting for ACHS teams this Spring, and there will be more activity out on the golf course. I understand that some improvements will be made at nearby Holiday Lake. There are busy days ahead!

Brightleaf raided our flower garden Saturday and came in with an armful of jonquils.

Must have had Spring Clean-Up on my mind, for I was starting a drive to re-arrange the stacks of papers in my Den when I came across an item had been looking for. It is Clean-Up time, indoors and outdoors.

Annual Wakathon Set For April 2

"Sole Power" will be taking over Lynchburg, Va. on Saturday, April 2 when the March of Dimes sponsors its 7th annual Walkathon. Participants may ride a bike, run, or walk on behalf of over 200,000 children born each year with birth defects. The route is all within the city limits of Lynchburg and will begin and end at Wade Field House at Lynchburg College on Lakeside Drive.

Residents who are unable to join the "shoe leather express" can step forward to sponsor a walker. Just call or write in your pledge per mile for a participant to the March of Dimes office, 7212 Timberlake Rd., Lynchburg, Va. 24502.

The 25-mile route is a challenge to all participants but any amount covered will be appreciated by those less fortunate. Last year about 1500 participants raised approximately $30,000 for the fight against birth defects. The money is used for local projects as well as medical research on a national level. Some of the local projects are a scholarship program, genetic counseling and educational programs which are available to all schools and civic organizations in the central Virginia area.

Sponsor sheets are available to all junior and senior high schools as well as most Fidelity American Banks. All those actively "pounding the beat" or sponsoring someone else in the Walk can call (804) 239-0265 in Lynchburg for further information.

According to Mr. P. C. Smith, Chairman of the Walkathon, if you do not know someone participating in this year's walk, you may call or write the March of Dimes office and we will assign you to a participant.

Local Taxpayers To Fork Up $6,892,000

How much will Appomattox County residents be contributing to Uncle Sam next month in income taxes? What part of the $255 billion in personal income and employment taxes that Washington is expecting to collect will come from them?

Preliminary figures indicate that the total will be considerably greater than in the past year, when they turned in close to $5,901,000, including the amount withheld via payroll deductions.

That is approximately what was collected locally by the Government, based on an unofficial breakdown of the statewide figures released by the Internal Revenue Service.

The returns from the State of Virginia as a whole came to $8,688,000,000, according to the IRS. Of this total, residents of Appomattox County contributed an estimated 0.16 percent.

Government expectations are for bigger receipts this year than last, even though there were more people out of work in most sections of the country during the taxable period.

That is because overall income was greater, due to the wage gains obtained by those who were employed. It is attributed, also, to "bracket creep," which is the movement of people into higher brackets, where tax rates are correspondingly higher.

As a result, the budget submitted to Congress calls for personal income and employment taxes to yield nearly $87 billion more than the $218 billion collected last April.

Appomattox County taxpayers will be shouldering their full share of this increase, it is expected, reflecting the higher total income locally.

It is estimated, on that basis, that collections in the area this year will come to approximately $6,892,000.

As for the forthcoming fiscal years, just how big the tax bite is going to be is not clear at this time. It is expected to exceed a budget, now being considered by Congress, anticipates personal taxes of $296 billion, as compared with this year's $255 billion.

The total income of the local population would have to increase proportionately for the area to carry its commensurate share of that rise.

COMMISSIONER OF REVENUE OFFICE TO OPEN SATURDAY

Commissioner of the Revenue for Appomattox County, Monte Mays, has announced that his office will be open on Saturday, March 26th from 9 a.m. until noon in order to assist citizens with filing their State Income taxes and personal property taxes.

Armstrong To Sponsor TV Special

Armstrong Cork Company, with home offices in Lancaster, Pa., will sponsor a one hour TV special on Tuesday, March 29th. The prime-time CBS show will feature Mitzi Gaynor in a varied collection of song and dance routines.

Products advertised on the program will include Armstrong carpeting, flooring, ceilings, and furniture manufactured here in Appomattox. TV Guide will carry color advertisements on these products in three issues prior to the program.

The Appomattox operation is one of the largest and most modern plants in the furniture industry. Since it opened in late 1974, the business has progressed steadily and will soon occupy a new 153,000 sq. ft. addition to the plant.

Employees of the local plant attended a meeting on February 24th during which they saw a brief preview of the Mitzi Gaynor Special. In addition, L. E. Foster, executive vice president of Armstrong Furniture Division, presented a slide program showing various plants and products of Armstrong Cork Company and Thomasville Furniture Industries.

The Mitzi Gaynor Special will be carried locally on Channel 7 at 8:30 p.m. on March 29.

The Big Event

An event which many believe will be the greatest spiritual happening in the history of this area is now in the planning. With Phase 1 scheduled for Rustburg, Virginia in July of 1977 and Phase II in Appomattox in May of 1978, the Central Virginia Tommy Sesler Crusade will involve hundreds of local people and affect thousands. Churches of several denominations are banding together in this joint task. Evangelist Tommy Sesler, from Chattanooga, Tennessee has preached in Area-wide Crusades in Nashville, Tn.; Somerville, Tn.; Chattanooga, Tn.; Knoxville, Tn.; Pontiac, Michigan; in addition to hundreds of church revivals during the past six years. The Tommy Sesler Evangelistic Association now has crusades in the planning for New York City; Gary Indiana; Russellville, Kentucky; and several other American cities. According to Rev. Lee Griggs, Associate for T.S.E.A., "If God once again moves in the manner that we have seen Him move in past Trommy Sesler Crusades, we will see hundreds of people committing their life to Jesus Christ in Central Virginia." Evangelist Sesler and Rev. Griggs along with Crusade Co-ordinator John Swafford and T.S.E.A. Associate Evangelist Jimmy Price have been commuting to Appomattox via private airplane for meetings concerning
